

Posted: May 2, 2017

JOB POSTING
Course Instructor

HIS231H1-S	Revolution and Emancipation in the Colonial Caribbean
Est. enrolment: 75 Est. TA Support : 180 hrs or as per enrollment	This course explores the history of the late eighteenth and nineteenth century Caribbean, from the Haitian Revolution to the U.S. occupation of Cuba and Puerto Rico. See departmental website for full course description at http://www.history.utoronto.ca
Schedule:	Tuesday 10:00am – 12:00pm
Rate of pay:	$7,385.12 (4% vacation pay included)
Dates of Appointment:	January 1, 2018 – April 30, 2018
Duties:	Course preparation, lecturing, marking and supervision of TA(s) in accordance with the CUPE 3902 Unit 1 Collective Agreement. There will be 24 hours of lectures in this course and one office hour per teaching week.
Qualification:	We are seeking applicants with proven experience in teaching, proven teaching excellence and mastery of the subject area as related to the course description above. Previous experience in teaching a similar course is highly desirable and previous experience or training with Blackboard is an asset.

The University of Toronto is strongly committed to diversity within its community and especially welcomes applications from racialized persons / persons of colour, women, Indigenous / Aboriginal People of North America, persons with disabilities, LGBTQ persons, and others who may contribute to the further diversification of ideas.

Applications should be emailed to hiscupe3@chass.utoronto.ca and must include:

- cover letter
- CV
- teaching evaluations
- one letter of reference from your dissertation supervisor, sent directly from him or her

Closing Date: May 24, 2017

Note:

1. Department Standards and Policies are available in the Departmental Office and in the CUPE, Local 3902 office.
2. The position above is posted in accordance with the CUPE 3902 Unit 1 Collective Agreement and is tentative, pending final course determinations and enrolments.
3. Please note that should rates stipulated in the collective agreement vary from rates stated in this posting, the rates stated in the collective agreement shall prevail.