

Ethics and Oral History at U of T: Two Practical Sessions

Oral history (like all research that involves human participants) requires approval by the University's Research Ethics Board. These two sessions offer practical discussions of the principles and practices that govern the approval process

Session 1: The Ethics Process at the University of Toronto

Featuring:

Dean Sharpe, PhD
Research Ethics Board Manager,
Social Science and Humanities
Office of Research Ethics

Monday November 19, 2-4PM
Natalie Zemon Davis Room
Sidney Smith 2098

Session 2: Historians and Ethics at U of T

Featuring:

Kate Bruce-Lockhart (Postdoc, History)
Luis Van Isschot (Asst Prof, History)
Anna Shternshis (Prof, Jewish Studies)
Facilitator: Julie MacArthur (Asst Prof, History)

Thursday, November 22nd, 2018, 1-3PM
Natalie Zemon Davis Room
Sidney Smith 2098

All welcome. Come to either, come to both. Snacks will be served.